

I am very pleased with the current status of New Jersey's Do No Call List. Thanks to this list I no longer suffer the intrusion of calls from telemarketers, who have absolutely no regard for those whom they are calling. They call during dinner, are abrasive and difficult. New Jersey's registration is voluntary. If a person does wish to receive unsolicited calls they simply do not register for the list. I would be extremely dismayed to see this law or the structure of this list changed.
